Re: Case Number 05-18-00567-CV; Darlene C. Amrhein v. Attorney Lennie F. Bollinger, and Wormington & Bollinger Law Firm

Dear Ms. Matz:

Appellees Lennie F. Bollinger and Wormington & Bollinger Law Firm intend to file a response on or before July 3, 2018 in opposition to Realtor's Supplement to Notice of Appeal and Docket Statements as Needed to Supplement Issues, which Realtor Darlene C. Balisteri-Amrhein ("Amrhein") originally submitted to this Court for filing only in her two original proceedings, Nos. 05-18-00633-CV, 05-18-00634-CV. This Court had already denied Amrhein's petition for writ of mandamus and thus, Realtor's Supplement to Notice of Appeal and Docket Statements as Needed to Supplement Issues was moot as to those proceedings. Upon review of the court's on-line docket sheet on June 28, 2018, Appellees learned that the Court ultimately filed this document in Amrhein's appeal in Cause No. 05-18-00567-CV on June 19, 2018.

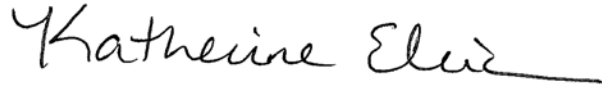

Amrhein's Supplement to Notice of Appeal and Docket Statements includes a request for a medical stay, which Appellees oppose. Amrhein did not conduct a certificate of conference, and her filing does not reflect a certificate of conference was conducted, on her request for medical stay. Moreover, there is no need for a stay of this appeal as the record on appeal is not due for filing until September 11, 2018, and there is no impending deadline scheduled for Appellant's Brief at this time. Furthermore, Amrhein has failed to provide the necessary evidence showing that she has a scheduled surgery or any evidence that she needs to stay the appeal beyond the date upon which her Appellant's Brief will later become due as there is not even a deadline calendared for Amrhein's Appellant's Brief at this time.

Unless this Court intends to deny Amrhein's request for medical stay without necessitating a response from Appellees, Appellees request that this Court not issue a ruling on Amrhein's request for medical stay until after Appellees submit their response in opposition detailing these reasons why a stay is not needed at this time. Appellees intend to file their response on or before July 3, 2018.
